I will do a brief chronicle about the evolution of the Solid State Theory group in Bariloche with special emphasis in its beginnings (1964-1980).

I will describe, from a very personal point of view, some of the research subjects at that time and the ambience we experienced as physicists.

Finally, I will also tell about the role of the group in the lectures at Instituto Balseiro and in the training of researchers in the area of Solid State Physics.
